Missouri's Governor Talks to the Citizens of Philadelphia

PEOPLE HAVE THE REMEDY

LAWLESS WHEN PUBLIC CON-SCIENCE IS AROUSED

Declares All Law Protected Privileges are Grafts and Should be Hateful to Citizens.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Under the influence of impassioned speeches directed against the Republican organization leaders, a crowd of several thousand men angrily marched to the homes of "Boss" Israel W. Durham and Senator McNichol, political leaders, late last night, following the reception of Governor Folk at the good government mass meeting, the crowd saying: "Let's hang Durham to a sour apple tree." The leaders denounced Durham. Never in the annals of politics was such aroused public opinion shown as was hurled at the leader of the organization at the threshold of his home. The police were powerless to restrain their denunciation. The leader of the marching army, Charles Moore, standing upon a soap box, harangued the crowd and poured invectives upon the heads of the political machine.

"You hypocrit," he cried, "We, the outraged public, have come to your home to show you we disapprove almost to a revolution your thieving and prostitution of the public weal. We have come to say that there is a just God and that you have to repent your evils and make restitution of your ill gotten gains."

Charles Home, another leader, surrounded by the ever increasing throng

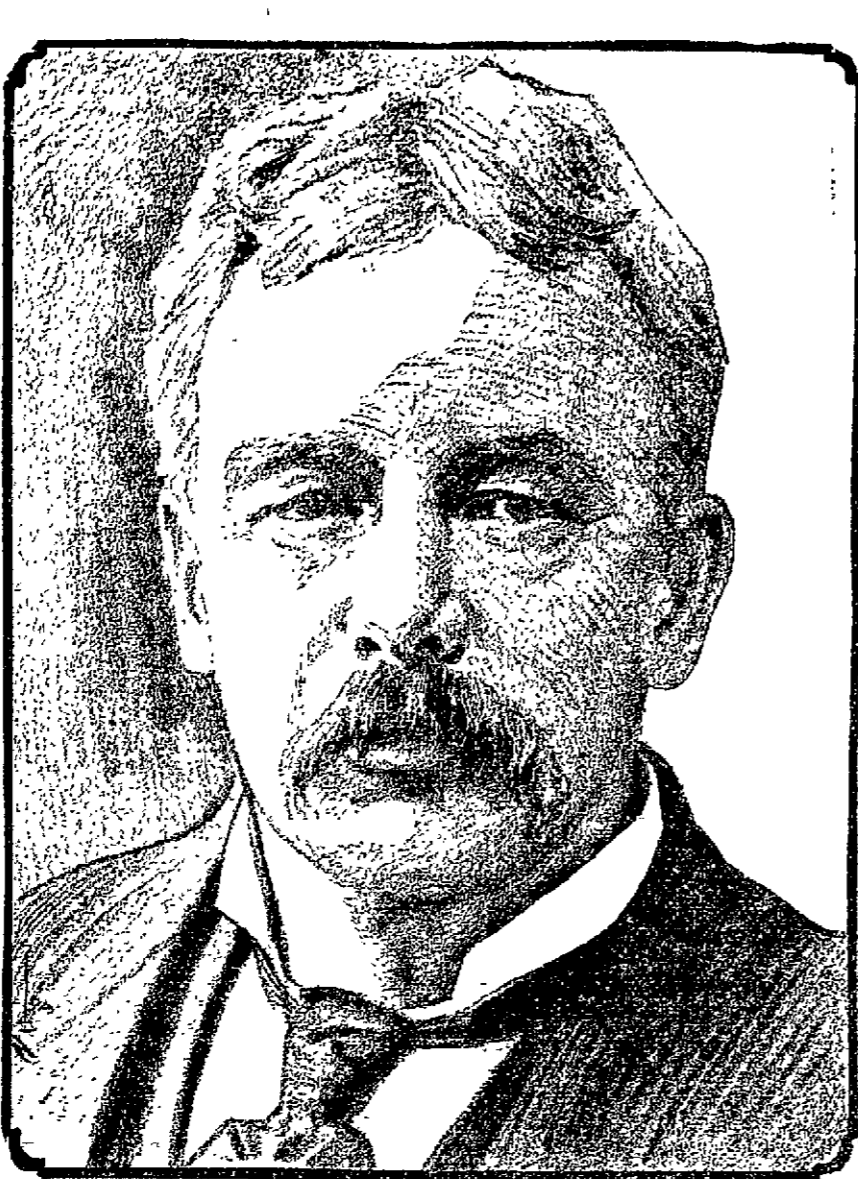

continued to stir up feeling of the aroused citizens. The fury of the crowd was let loose when the leader lustily denounced Durham as a thief. There was a rush for the door, but it was restrained. The great mob then stretched out before the McNichols mansion and one of his sons braved the crowd by coming into the vestibule. Here a similar demonstration followed. The crowd marched on, shouting cheers for Mayor Weaver-Folk and the city party candidates. The crowd went to Bellevue Stratford. Governor Folk appeared and everybody rushed forward. Smiling, he said:

"When enthusiasm keeps you up until the early morning hours I know you will win. If every city in the country had citizens like you every grafter would soon be in a hole. You are soldiers of peace and good government."

Folk's speech was drowned in hurrahs and everybody rushed up to shake his hands. He was jammed and pushed before special policemen extricated him.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Governor Folk of Missouri addressed a large audience in the Academy of Music, his visit to this city enlivening the battle between the local Republican organization and the City party, the reform organization recently formed here. Said the governor:

"The most conspicuous fact of municipal governments in the United States today is that they are governed by the few and not by the people. There is more aggressive rottenness and less aggressive patriotism in our large cities than anywhere else. If the patriotism can be made as aggressive as the rottenness, the brow-

THE NEW COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE G. A. R.

James A. McKee, the new commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was born in New York state in 1844 and became a corporal in the Eighty-seventh New York regiment during the civil war. At the second battle of Bull Run he lost both of his legs. After the war he studied law and held several government positions. In 1889 Mr. McKee was appointed United States pension commissioner. Recently he has been a pension attorney and has resided in Washington.

lem of good government would be solved by the people taking the government into their own hands. If corruption exists in Philadelphia the people are to blame; if corruption is to be eradicated the people alone can do it. The fight you are making here is a battle which will be felt by every town, city and state in the land. The average man does not appreciate the solemn duty he owes his city, state and his country. The moral revolution now sweeping over the land means the patriotism that comes from the heart and not from the head. The man who is willing to live for his city and state every day is the man that is needed just now. We need more men actuated alone by the public good and fewer of those who are in politics merely for revenge. The strength of the lawless element is great, but it is nothing when coming in contact with public conscience thoroughly aroused. The people can overthrow civic evil whenever they want to and get just as good government as they deserve or as bad as they permit it to become.

"The moral revolution that is now sweeping over the land is merely a revival of the rule of the people. Four years ago the laws against bribery in all of the states were considered as practically dead letters. Here was a crime strikes at the foundation of all laws. Yet the law denouncing it was not enforced; bribery became the usual and expected thing all over the land; corrupt men feasted and fattened at public expense, laws became merchandise on the market, and all this time the public conscience was asleep. When the revelations came the people saw how they had been plundered, they saw the offense in all of its enormity, and from one end of the land to the other there was a civic awakening. Any special privilege is a graft. Monopoly, even law-protected privileges, are graft and should be hateful to every fair-minded citizen. Unless the spirit of civic righteousness now abroad in the land dies out, and there is no likelihood of that, we will pass from the sordid age of commercialism into age of high ideals."

SOLAR SPOTS SEEN

Washington, Oct. 17.—The officials of the naval observatory announce that a large group of solar spots was observed with the photoheliograph at that institution. The group has advanced about two days from the disc of the sun, visible in this vicinity, and is located in south latitude. The group can be seen by the naked eye, but with a telescope it is resolved into a mass of small spots, closely grouped together. This is the largest sun spot visible since last spring.

MOB HANGED NEGRO

London, Ky., Oct. 17.—A large crowd of armed and masked men from Knox county rode into London last night and at revolvers' point forced the jailor to give up a negro who had been given a life sentence for murder of a well known Knox county merchant. The mob hanged the negro to a tree in a suburb of the town. The victim was Virgil Rogers, under life sentence for the murder of George Farris.

GIBSON IS TO QUIT BLACK AND WHITE

Famous Artist Will Go to Spain Next Month to Study Painting—Makes a Big Sacrifice.

New York, Oct. 17.—After this week Charles Dana Gibson will draw no more in black and white. Gibson wants to study art. As a friend expresses it, "He has bought his freedom" and, realizing "that he has reached his limit in black and white," he has decided upon this step. The cost of Gibson's freedom will be about $65,000 a year, the amount of income he will sacrifice.

"My mind is made up," Gibson says. "I have done what I set out to do in my chosen sphere, and now I am free to do the work I want to do."

"For six months I have been working in colors and I find that I cannot continue to draw in line and give the time I want to give to painting," Mr. Gibson will first go to Spain.

MRS. TAGGART ASKS FOR A NEW TRIAL

Attorneys for Major Taggart Are Given a Surprise by Judge Smyser's Action.

Wooster, O., Oct. 17.—Judge Eason will personally supervise the selection of a school in Columbus for the boy, Culver. Judge Eason went to Columbus this morning with this purpose in view. The judge thinks that a military school of the junior order would be the proper place for the boy. The judge also will personally look after the interests of Charles, the younger boy, here.

Wooster, O., Oct. 17.—Attorneys for Major Taggart were given a surprise when they learned that Judge Smyser, attorney for Mrs. Grace Taggart, had filed a petition for a new trial. It was supposed that Judge Smyser had only given the notice to preserve his rights. The motion moves that the judgment and decree be set aside for the following reasons: That during the trial of the case the court erred in admission of evidence in favor of plaintiff and against defendant, that court erred in the rejection of evidence offered by defendant, and because of irregularity of the prevailing party by which the defendant was precluded from having a fair and impartial hearing. The irregularity consisted of bringing to the attention of the court and before the court outside matter not offered in evidence and not brought to attention of court in open court. It is claimed that attorneys for Mrs. Taggart will claim that Judge Eason conferred with a lawyer, parties as to what and for what the judgment and decree should be.

It is probable that the policy was soon to mature," replied Mr. Curdy. This gave an opening and Chairman Armstrong quickly asked what the fact of a maturing policy had to do with diminishing dividends.

Mr. Curdy again asked the question by replying: "The policy can give answer to that. It says it was an error of judgment to have made that policy. I do not want to be led into a wilderness of questions and cross-questions."

MR. M'CURDY

President of Mutual Life is Closely Questioned by Hughes Today.

DIVIDENDS ARE CONSIDERED

MAN WITH $150,000 SALARY FOUGHT
QUESTIONS OFF

But Inquisitor Thought He Ought to Know Something About the Insurance Business.

New York, Oct. 17.—When the legislative insurance investigating committee resumed its session today James McKee, associate counsel, said that at the last hearing J. M. Beck, counsel for the Mutual, had stated through President McCurdy, that the Mutual Life had assets that exceeded those of the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Imperial Bank of Germany.

"We have received by cable the assets of these banks as well as salaries paid to two of the officers of these banks," said McKee. The assets of the Bank of France are $1,222,000,075. The assets of the Bank of England are $611,554,725. The Imperial Bank of Germany has $472,945,000 assets. This is a total of $2,226,574,725. The assets of the Mutual Life were $440,938,371 in December, 1904. The assets of the three banks exceed those of the Mutual by $1,785,596,354. The salary paid to the leading official of the Imperial Bank of Germany is $30,000, and that paid to the chief governor of the Bank of England is $10,000. The salary of the leading official of the Bank of France we have not at hand."

Beck arose and said that no one knew from whom the cablegrams came and that they should be disregarded. He said the committee labored under a misapprehension, that he had said the combined capital of the banks and not the assets did not exceed that of the Mutual.

"The Mutual has no capital, so any company exceeds it in that respect," said Inquisitor Hughes.

Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual, was again called to the stand today.

Hughes went at once into that part of life insurance which interests the policyholders most. He quoted from an advertisement in a magazine, which stated that the Mutual earned more and paid more to its policyholders than any other company in the world. The inquisitor said the committee had received many letters from policyholders and he desired to call the attention to one in particular. The letter stated that a ten-payment life plan policy had been taken out in 1865 and that during the years when the premiums were paid the dividends were $50 the dividends in 1875, the last year the premium was paid, was $55.50, and that since that time the dividends have constantly decreased, so that last year the dividend was only $3.

McCurdy would not admit the facts stated in the letter and fought the question off at every point, constantly saying: "Call to actuary."

Hughes replied that since the president had been 40 years in the company with an annual salary of $150,000 he thought it eminently fitting to inquire what he knew about it.

Pressed finally on these questions, McCurdy said he would take the letter for examination and would see that a reply was made.

Hughes read another letter from a policyholder, which stated that dividends on one policy fell from $22 in 1903 to $7 in 1904.

"It is probable that the policy was soon to mature," replied Mr. Curdy. This gave an opening and Chairman Armstrong quickly asked what the fact of a maturing policy had to do with diminishing dividends.

Mr. Curdy again asked the question by replying: "The policy can give answer to that. It says it was an error of judgment to have made that policy. I do not want to be led into a wilderness of questions and cross-questions."

A TRAGIC TALE OF OLD OCEAN

Told by Survivors of a Crew That For a Week Fought for Life.

VESSEL SMASHED BY A GALE

Four Men, Crazy by Their Fearful Experience, Dropped From the Wreckage Into the Angry Sea—Others Die of Exposure, Exhaustion, and Injuries Inflicted by the Waves.

Boston, Oct. 17.—A harrowing tale is told by two survivors of the coasting schooner Vannane and King of New Haven, which was beaten to pieces by a gale off the South Carolina coast. The men were rescued by the schooner-er Stillman P. Kelly. They are William Thomas and William G. War-nock, both 28 years old, and hail from Antigua, British West Indies.

Six of the crew succumbed. They were: Captain William A. Maxwell of New Jersey; Mate E. A. Chase, home unknown; colored steward, name unknown; colored seamen, Wm. Grizell and Alfred Arthur, both of Jamaica.

The Vannane and King, which has been plying up and down the coast since 1886, left Charleston, S. C., for New York on Oct. 3 with a cargo of hard pine. Two days out she ran into a heavy gale and after wallowing about in the great seas for several hours sprang a leak. The pumps were started, but within a short time the engine room was flooded and the pumps choked. At 8 a. m. of Oct. 8, with her hold nearly full of water, the little schooner was hove down on her beam's end. The crew clambered up on the weather side and lashed themselves to the bulwarks. There they remained washed by the seas that broke mercilessly over them all day Friday.

The same evening the storm increased in fury, and one great wave crashed aboard, breaking both legs of Seaman Arthur and sweeping Grizell from his fastenings. Arthur's companions could do nothing to relieve his sufferings, but when on Saturday the schooner turned completely over they managed to cut his lashings and drag him on a piece of the after-house. It was several hours before they were all huddled together on their little raft. That night Arthur died in the arms of Captain Maxwell and his body was dropped overboard.

Sunday brought a ray of hope when a craft was sighted, but the gloom shut in again as she passed by without heeding the little group of seamen who frantically signaled her. That night the waves subsided and a little rain fell, which was eagerly caught in a tarpaulin and brought some slight relief.

Relief was only temporary, and not long after Mate Chase's mind gave way entirely and the craft was again lightened when he jumped into the sea. The next victim was Captain Maxwell, who on Monday forenoon became violently insane and followed his mate's example of self-destruction as a relief to his sufferings. The spectacle of the two men throwing themselves into the sea proved too much for the German engineer, and a few hours after the captain's death he too leaped to his death. The last victim was the colored steward, who died Monday night and whose body was consigned to the waters. Relief came 12 hours later when the schooner Kelly, bound up the coast to this port, sighted the little craft and hove to alongside.

MONSTER GAS WELL

Beyond Control and Every Effort to Stop Flow Has Failed—Output
Is Not Stated.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 17.—Thirty million cubic feet of natural gas is escaping from what is said to be the largest gas well ever struck. The well was drilled near Weston, and when the tools struck the opening there came a rush of gas which hurled gas blowdowns from the well and drove every one from the derrick. It is estimated that the well has a pressure of 1,400 pounds to the square inch. Every effort is being made to control the flow and stop the enormous waste.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 17.—The Philadelphia Gas company, operating an Lewis county, has struck a monster gas well. The gas is beyond all control and its flow can be heard for five miles. Every effort to control the gas has failed. It is estimated that 24,000,000 cubic feet of gas will be supplied to the city of Philadelphia by the well in the next few days.

URGE LIBERALS NOT TO VOTE

Party Leaders Issue a Manifesto to the Cuban Electorate.

REMAIN PASSIVE THIS YEAR

Unanimously Resolve to Maintain Their Organization and Petition the Courts to Investigate Alleged Fraudulent Registration—President Palma Regrets Withdrawal of Liberals.

Havana, Oct. 17.—Leaders of the Liberal party, representing each province, met here and unanimously resolved to maintain their organization, but to issue a manifesto urging Liberals not to visit the polls on election day. Senator Zayas, president of the party, said that while the Liberals still comprised a majority of the voters, no chance remained for them to register their strength at the polls, and therefore they preferred to remain passive this year. He said that the vote in Havana at the last election totaled 39,000, with a big Liberal majority, while this year's registration showed a vote of 52,000, in which the followers of the Moderate or administration party greatly predominated. He said he had petitioned the courts to investigate cases of alleged fraudulent registration.

In response to questions with reference to the withdrawal of the opposition, P. Palma said: "I am anxious to see the Moderate party to be a strong party, and of course am ambitious for its predominance in congress as well as in the executive branch of the government, but I shall be truly disappointed if it is true that the Liberal party has withdrawn from the campaign, because I believe that a strong and live opposition party is necessary to the maintenance of a healthy political condition." President Palma said, however, that advice received by the government from some sections of the country indicated that the Liberals would exercise the prerogative of voting. The president declined to answer the allegations of the Liberals that the government had in any way curtailed the electoral privilege, merely remarking: "You know it is untrue."

THE GIFT OF THE EMPEROR

No. 6 of the Series

(Copyright, 1899, by Charles Scribner's Sons.)

WHEN the king of the cannibal islands made faces at Queen Victoria and a European monarch set the cables tingling with his compliments on the exploit the indignation in England was not less than the surprise for the thing was not so common as it has since become. But when it transpired that a gift of peculiar significance was to follow the congratulations, to give them weight, the inference prevailed that the white potentate and the black had taken simultaneous leave of their fourteen senses. For the gift was a pearl of price unparalleled, picked afloat by British cutthroats from a Polynesian setting and presented by British royalty to the sovereign who seized this opportunity of restoring it to its original possessor.

The incident would have been a god-send to the press a few weeks later. Even in June there were leaders, letters, large headlines, leaded type, the Daily Chronicle devoting half its literary page to a charming drawing of the island capital, which the new Pall Mall, in a leading article headed by a pun, advised the government to blow to flinders. I was myself driving, a poor but not dishonest quill at the time, and the topic of the hour goaded me into satiric verse which obtained a better place than anything I had yet turned out. I had let my flat in town and taken inexpensive quarters at Thames Ditton on the plea of a disinterested passion for the river.

"First rate, old boy!" said Raffles (who must needs come and see me there), lying back in the boat while I sculled and steered. "I suppose they pay you pretty well for these, eh?"

"Not a penny."

"Nonsense, Bunny! I thought they paid so well? Give them time and you'll get your check."

"Oh, no, I shan't," said I gloomily. "I've got to be content with the honor of getting in. The editor wrote to say so in so many words," I added. But I gave the gentleman his distinguished name.

"You don't mean to say you've written for payment already?"

No. It was the last thing I had intended to admit. But I had done it. The murder was out. There was no sense in further concealment. I had written for my money because I really needed it. If he must know, I was cursedly hard up. Raffles nodded as though he knew already. I warned to my woes. It was no easy matter to keep your end up as a raw free lance of letters. For my part I was afraid I wrote neither well enough nor ill enough for success. I suffered from a persistent ineffectual feeling after style. Verse I could manage, but it did not pay. To personal paragraphs and the baser journalism I could not and I would not stoop.

Raffles nodded again, this time with a smile that stayed in his eyes as he leaned back watching me. I knew that he was thinking of other things I had stooped to, and I thought I knew what he was going to say. He had said it before so often. He was sure to say it again. I had my answer ready, but evidently he was tired of asking the same question. His lids fell, he took up the paper he had dropped and I sculled the length of the old red wall of Hampton Court before he spoke again.

"And they gave you nothing for these? My dear Bunny, they're capital; not only you verses, but for crystallizing your subject and putting it in a nutshell. Certainly you've taught me more about it than I knew before. But is it really worth £50,000—a single pearl?"

"A hundred, I believe. But that wouldn't scan."

"A hundred thousand pounds!" said Raffles with his eyes shut. And again I made certain what was coming, but again I was mistaken. "If it's worth all that," he cried at last, "there would be no getting rid of it at all. It's not like a diamond that you can subdivide. But I beg your pardon, Bunny. I was forgetting."

And we said no more about the emperor's gift, for pride thrives on an empty pocket, and no privation would have drawn from me the proposal which I had expected Raffles to make. My expectation had been half a boye, though I only knew it now. But neither did we touch again on what Raffles professed to have forgotten—my "apostasy," my "lapse into virtue," as he had been pleased to call it. We were both a little silent, a little constrained, each preoccupied with his own thoughts. It was months since we had met, and as I saw him off toward 11 o'clock that Sunday night I fancied it was for more months that we were saying goodbye.

But as we waited for the train I saw those clear eyes peering at me under the station lamps, and when I met their glance Raffles shook his head.

"You don't look well on it, Bunny," said he. "I never did believe in this Thames valley. You want a change of air."

I wished I might get it.

"What you really want is a sea voyage."

"And a winter at St. Moritz, or do you recommend Cannes or Cairo? It's all very well, A. J., but you forget what I told you about my funds."

"I forget nothing. I merely don't want to hurt your feelings. But look here—a sea voyage you shall have. We'll spend July in the Mediterranean."

"But you're playing cricket!"

"Hang the cricket!"

"Well, I thought you meant it!"

"Of course I meant it. Will you come?"

"Like a shot—if you go."

And I shook his hand and waved mine in farewell, with the perfectly good humored conviction that I should hear no more of the matter. It was a passing thought, no more, no less. I soon wished it were more. That week found me wishing myself out of England for good and all. I was making nothing. I could but subsist on the difference between the rent I paid for my flat and the rent at which I had sublet it, furnished, for the season, and the season was near its end, and creditors awaited me in town. Was it possible to be entirely honest? I had run no bills when I had money in my pocket, and the more downright dishonesty seemed to me the less ignoble.

But from Raffles of course I heard nothing more. A week went by, and half another week. Then late on the second Wednesday night I found a telegram from him at my lodgings after seeking him vainly in town and dining with desperation at the solitary club to which I still belonged.

"Arrange to leave Waterloo by North German Lloyd special," he wired, "9.25 a. m. Monday next; will meet you Southampton aboard Uhlman with tickets; am writing."

And write he did, a light hearted letter enough, but full of serious solicitude for me and for my health and prospects—a letter almost touching in the light of our past relations, in the twilight of their complete rupture. He said that he had booked two berths to Naples; that we were bound for Capri, which was clearly the island of the lotus eaters; that we would bask there together "and for awhile forget." It was a charming letter. I had never seen Italy; the privilege of initiation should be his. No mistake was greater than to deem it an impossible country for the summer. The bay of Naples was never so divine, and he wrote of "fairly lands forlorn," as though the poetry sprang unbidden to his pen. To come back to earth and prose, I might think it unpatriotic of him to choose a German boat, but on no other line did you receive such attention and accommodation for your money. There was a hint of better reasons. Raffles wrote, as he had telegraphed, from Bremen, and I gathered that the personal use of some little influence with the authorities had resulted in a material reduction in our fares.

Imagine my excitement and delight! I managed to pay what I owed at Thames Ditton, to squeeze a small editor for a very small check and my tailors for one more flannel suit. I remember that I broke my last sovereign to get a box of Sullivan's cigarettes for Raffles to smoke on the voyage. But my heart was as light as my purse on the Monday morning, the fairest morning of an unfair summer, when the special whirled me through the sunshine to the sea.

A tender awaited us at Southampton. Raffles was not on board, nor did I really look for him till we reached the liner's side, and then I looked in vain. His face was not among the many that fringed the rail; his hand was not of the few that waved to friends. I climbed aboard in a sudden heaviness. I had no ticket or the money to pay for one. I did not even know the number of my room. My heart was in my mouth as I waylaid a steward and asked if a Mr. Raffles was on board. Thank heaven—he was! But where? The man did not know, was plainly on some other errand, and a-bunting I must go. But there was no sign of him on the promenade deck and none below in the saloon. The smoking room was empty but for a little German with a red mustache twisted into his eyes. Nor was Raffles in his own cabin, whither I inquired my way in desperation, but the sight of his own name on the baggage was certainly a further reassurance. Why he himself kept in the back ground, however, I could not conceive, and only sinister reasons would suggest themselves in explanation.

"So there you are! I've been looking for you all over the ship!"

Despite the craven prohibition I had tried the bridge as a last resort, and there indeed was A. J. Raffles seated on a skylight and leaning over one of the officers' long chairs, in which reclined a girl in a white drill coat and skirt—a slip of a girl with a pale skin, dark hair and rather remarkable eyes.

So much I noted as he rose and quickly turned. Thereupon I could think of nothing but the swift grimace which preceded a start of well feigned astonishment.

"Why, Bunny?" cried Raffles. "Where have you sprung from?"

I stammered something as he pinched my hand.

"And are you coming in this ship? And to Naples too? Well, upon my word! Miss Werner, may I introduce him?"

And he did so without a blush, describing me as an old schoolfellow whom he had not seen for months.

"It won't send you off in the pilot's boat, Bunny?"

"Not quite."

"Then—you remember the pearl you wrote the?"

I did not wait for him to finish his sentence.

"You've got it!" I cried, my face on fire, for I caught sight of it that moment in the stateroom mirror.

Raffles seemed taken aback.

"Not yet," said he, "but I mean to have it before we get to Naples."

"Is it on board?"

"Yes."

"But how—where—who's got it?"

"A little German officer, a whipper-

THERE WAS A. J. RAFFLES.

with willful circumstance and gratuitous detail that filled me at once with confusion, suspicion and revolt. I felt myself blushing for us both, and I did not care. My address utterly deserted me, and I made no effort to recover it, to carry the thing off. All I would do was to mumble such words as Raffles actually put into my mouth, and that I doubt not with a thoroughly evil grace.

"So you saw my name in the list of passengers and came in search of me? Good old Bunny! I say, though, I wish you'd share my cabin. I've got a beauty on the promenade deck, but they wouldn't promise to keep me by myself. We ought to see about it before they shove in some alien. In any case we shall have to get out of this."

For a quartermaster had entered the wheelhouse, and even while we had been speaking the pilot had taken possession of the bridge. As we descended, the tender left us, with flying handkerchiefs and shrill goodbys, and as we bowed to Miss Werner in the promenade deck there came a deep, slow throbbing underfoot and our voyage had begun.

It did not begin pleasantly between Raffles and me. On deck he had overborne my stubborn perplexity by dint of a forced though forceful joviality. In his cabin the gloves were off.

"You idiot," he snarled, "you've given me away again!"

"How have I given you away?"

I ignored the separate insult in his last word.

"How? I should have thought any clod could see that I meant us to meet by chance!"

"After taking both tickets yourself?"

"They know nothing about that on board. Besides, I hadn't decided when I took the tickets."

"Then you should have let me know when you did decide. You lay your plans and never say a word and expect me to tumble to them by light of nature. How was I to know you had anything on?"

I had turned the tables with some effect. Raffles almost hung his head.

"The fact is, Bunny, I didn't mean you to know. You—you've grown such a plump rabbit in your old age."

My nickname and his tone went far to mollify me. Other things went farther, but I had much to forgive him still.

"If you were afraid of writing," I pursued, "it was your business to give me the tip the moment I set foot on board. I would have taken it all right. I am not so virtuous as all that."

Was it my imagination or did Raffles look slightly ashamed? If so it was for the first and last time in all the years I knew him, nor can I swear to it even now.

"That," said he, "was the very thing I meant to do—to lie in wait in my room and get you as you passed, but—"

"You were better engaged?"

"Say otherwise."

"The charming Miss Werner?"

"She is quite charming."

"Most Australian girls are," said I.

"How did you know she was one?" he cried.

"I heard her speak."

"Brute!" said Raffles, laughing. "She has no more twang than you have. Her people are German; she has been to school in Dresden and is on her way out alone."

"Money?" I inquired.

"Confound you!" he said, and, though he was laughing, I thought it was a point at which the subject might be changed.

"Well," I said, "it wasn't for Miss Werner you wanted us to play strangers, was it? You have some deeper game than that, eh?"

"I suppose I have."

"Then hadn't you better tell me what it is?"

Raffles treated me to the old, cautious scrutiny that I knew so well. The very familiarity of it, after all these months, set me smiling in a way that might have reassured him, for dimly already I divined his enterprise.

snapper with perpendicular mustaches."

"I saw him in the smoke room."

"That's the chap. He's always there, Herr Captain Wilhelm von Heumann, if you look at the list. Well, he's the special envoy of the emperor, and he's taking the pearl out with him."

"You found this out in Bremen?"

"No, in Berlin, from a newspaper man I know there. I'm ashamed to tell you, Bunny, that I went there on purpose."

I burst out laughing.

"You needn't be ashamed. You are doing the very thing I was rather hoping you were going to propose the other day on the river."

"You were hoping it?" said Raffles, with his eyes wide open. Indeed, it was his turn to show surprise and amuse to be much more ashamed than I felt.

"Yes," I answered, "I was quite keen on the idea, but I wasn't going to propose it."

"Yet you would have listened to me the other day?"

Certainly I would, and I told him so without reserve; not brazenly, you understand; not even now with the gusto of a man who savors such an adventure for its own sake, but doggedly, defiantly, through my teeth, as one who had tried to live honestly and failed. And while I was about it I told him much more. Eloquently enough, I dare say, I gave him chapter and verse of my hopeless struggle, my inevitable defeat for hopeless and inevitable they were to a man with my record, even though that record was written only in one's own soul. It was the old story of the thief trying to turn honest man. The thing was against nature, and there was an end of it.

Raffles entirely disagreed with me. He shook his head over my conventional view. Human nature was a board of checkers. Why not reconcile oneself to alternate black and white? Why desire to be all one thing or all the other, like our forefathers on the stage or in the old fashioned fiction? For his part he enjoyed himself on all squares of the board and liked the light the better for the shade. My conclusion he considered absurd.

"But you err in good company, Bunny, for all the cheap moralists who preach the same twaddle. Old Virgil was the first and worst offender of you all. I back myself to climb out of Avernus any day I like, and sooner or later I shall climb out for good. I suppose I can't very well turn myself into a limited liability company, but I could retire and settle down and live blamelessly ever after. I'm not sure that it couldn't be done on this pearl alone."

"Then you don't still think it too remarkable to sell?"

"We might take a fishery and haul it up with smaller fry. It would come after months of ill luck, just as we were going to sell the schooner. By Jove, it would be the talk of the Pacific!"

"Well, we've got to get it first. Is this Von What's-his-name a formidable cuss?"

"More so than he looks, and he has the cheek of the devil!"

As he spoke a white drill skirt fluttered past the open stateroom door, and I caught a glimpse of an upturned mustache beyond.

"But is he the chap we have to deal with? Won't the pearl be in the purser's keeping?"

Raffles stood at the door, frowning out upon the Solent, but for an instant he turned to me with a snarl.

"My good fellow, do you suppose the whole ship's company knows there's a gem like that aboard? You said that it was worth £100,000; in Berlin they say it's priceless. I doubt if the skipper himself knows that Von Heumann has it on him."

"And he has?"

"Must have."

"Then we have only him to deal with?"

MRS. GEO. P. WEBB

Has Been Chosen to Represent the Newark King's Daughters at the Cleveland Convention.

Mrs. George P. Webb has been chosen state delegate of the King's Daughters to the state convention of that order to be held in Cleveland Tuesday, October 24. The International Order of the King's Daughters hold a summer school at Lakeside each year, where the different ideas which have helped to make The King's Daughters order the success it is, are taught. All King's Daughters are welcome and the meetings are especially attended by members of the conference, secretaries, the councils and others. Mrs. Webb will give the report of the work accomplished this year at the school.

While in Cleveland Mrs. Webb will visit the day nurseries of that city and note the different parts of the work which may be used advantageously in the same work to be carried out in our own city. Mrs. Webb, with the aid of the Mary Webb Memorial Circle, has taken up this work for the good of others, and it is needless to say, much good will be accomplished. The members of the circle wish to thank the people of Newark for their patronage, which has made the success of their enterprise possible, also especially to the Licking County Bank, which extended the member of the circle many courtesies which are much appreciated.

ACT NOW!

Kidney Diseases are Too Dangerous to be Neglected.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. In quick succession follow backache, headache, nervousness, lameness and soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease.

Don't neglect your kidneys. Assist them in times of need with a safe and certain remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills.

Cures in Newark prove the value of Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Newark case:

Amos Frey, shoemaker at 307 E. Main St., and living at 23 Bolen St., Newark, O., says: "I made a statement in 1896, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, and the eight years which have passed have only strengthened my confidence in that remedy. It gives me pleasure in 1904 to confirm what I said in 1896, for my cure was so complete that I have never had any return of the trouble."

The statement made by Mr. Frey in 1896 was as follows: "For several years I was never free from pain, a constant dragging, aching in the kidneys. It was dull and dead so that I had to get up and move about if I sat for any length of time, my back would get so tired and aching so hard that it was really agonizing. I took several kidney medicines but I got no benefit until I happened to learn of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Crayton's drug store. They did all that they promised for they completely removed the miserable pain from my back."

TO THE PEOPLE OF NEWARK

The report has been circulated that The Newark Water Company does not desire to sell its plant to the city.

This report is false.

On behalf of The Newark Water Company I have endeavored for the last two years to obtain a sale to the city through an appraisal.

The city officials claim if the appraisal is too high the city may nevertheless be compelled by the company to take the property.

The Water Company has and still does agree to waive any such right if such right does exist.

If the city will undertake the appraisal and no agreement be reached The Water Company will agree.

1st. That the hydrant rental contract will be extended at the option of the city as long as is necessary to complete a municipal plant.

2nd. The city will be secured against any liability either to take the property or to pay any costs, attorney fees or expenses on account of any litigation arising out of the appraisal or sale.

The Water company only asks a fair business-like investigation of its property. An appraisal will enable everybody to know what the plant is, how it can be used by the city, and what it is worth.

This has been the position of the Water company from the outset.

The Water company claims that a fair consideration of the matter will convince the people that by a purchase of its property they will save:

1st. $200,000 in cost of construction.

2d. The tearing up of many miles of paved streets.

4th. From $5,000 and up annually income from private consumers.

5th. $25,000 in making connections with private consumers as well as the annoyance of digging up the streets for the purpose.

WORK LECTURE

Synopsis of Address Given by Iowa Socialist at Taylor Hall Here Monday Night.

A synopsis of the lecture given by John M. Work of Des Moines, Iowa, at Taylor Hall last evening follows: Political parties are run in the interest of the men who pay their campaign funds.

The Republican and Democratic parties get their campaign funds from the capitalist class. They are run in the interest of the capitalist class.

The Socialist party gets its campaign funds from the masses. It is run in the interest of the working masses.

I am an individualist. Some short-sighted people think that Socialism is communism. But, people will not live in common in the Socialist commonwealth any more than the county officers, who work for the public, do now.

Socialism is the public ownership and the popular management, not of private personal effects but of the industries, the means of production and distribution. It will enable the average man to own much more private property than he does now. Socialism stands for true individualism. The present capitalist system has made it impossible for the masses of the people to cultivate their individuality.

Capitalism has reduced them to a dead level, the dead level of poverty, long hours of labor, and inability to avail themselves of the higher things of life. Capitalism compels the industrious to divide up with the idle. It compels the wage workers and the farmers to hand over the bulk of their product to the capitalist class, because the capitalist class owns the industries. There is no remedy but Socialism, the public ownership and the popular management of the industries.

Socialism is not a scheme or invention. It is the logical result of the operation of the economic laws.

Tariff tinkering cannot harm the trusts, because they can do away with international competition by making the trusts international.

Anti-trust laws are useless and reactionary. If the big corporations are prevented from making open pools, all they have to do to get around the anti-trust law is to make secret pools.

Freight rate legislation is futile. Even if it lowered the freight rates, the trusts would simply put up their prices and rake in the extra dollars.

There are more workers than jobs. The workers compete for the jobs. The capitalists are therefore able to hire men for just enough wages to afford them a bare subsistence. There is no remedy but Socialism.

Labor saving machinery has immensely increased production. But the capitalists have reaped the benefit of the increase, because they own the industries. Socialism is the only remedy.

Capitalism is killing itself. It has constantly crowded people into the working class until now the census says that four-fifths of the gainfully occupied males are wage workers, and it is of course to their interest to destroy capitalism and introduce socialism, in order that they may secure the full value of their labor.

It is also to the interest of the average farmer to destroy capitalism and introduce socialism. The trusts, the landlords and the loan companies pluck the farmer until he is little if any better off than a wage worker.

The Socialist party is a rank and file party. Important questions within it are settled by referendum vote of the party. The members have the power to discharge any official at any time.

The Socialist vote doubles about every two years.

FOOTBALL "TONIC"

Shocking Discovery Concerning Dope Given Y. M. C. A. Player—The "Tonic" Was Whiskey.

Pittsburg, Oct. 17.—Hereafter the bottle containing liquid and labelled "tonic" which has been placed to the lips of the football players on the Seewickley Y. M. C. A. team whenever knocked out will be barred. Members of the Y. M. C. A. have been shocked by the discovery that the bottle, which was supposed to contain lemon juice, sugar and root beer, really contained whiskey.

It has been noticed at several games that a great many of the men on the Y. M. C. A. team got hurt and had to take frequent pulls at the "tonic" bottle. It was also noticed after the games that the players who had been injured were uncommonly frisky.

The Secretary of the Association, who is a young man, decided yesterday that he would participate in the football game. He was slightly injured in a scrimmage, and the "tonic" bottle was hurriedly brought. He took a swallow.

"Take it away!" he shouted. "That's whiskey."

Two children of Jason Comett, a veterinarian residing near Hazard, Ky., were killed by swallowing corrosive sublimate. The children, thinking it was sugar, ate a large quantity of it and died a few minutes afterward.

Milton D. Stone, a prominent lumberman of Jamestown, N. Y., was instantly killed while hunting near Westfield. The gun of Frank Sears, a companion of Stone, was accidentally discharged.

BURIED HAND WAS HURTING HIM

MEMBER EXHUMED, STRAIGHTENED AND THEN PIERSON WAS RELIEVED.

Dresden Boy Who Was Badly Crippled by Cars Now Recovering in the Zanesville Hospital.

Zanesville, Oct. 17.—Claiming that the fingers of his amputated hand were cramped and hurting him, Grover Pierson, aged 20, the Trinway young man who was injured on the C. and M. V. railroad about two weeks ago, and who is recovering from the operation at the Zanesville hospital, caused that member to be exhumed at the Dresden cemetery yesterday and the fingers straightened "so they would cease to hurt him."

Pierson was knocked from a box car at Dresden and had his left arm and leg so badly crushed that amputation of both members was necessary. The operation was successful and the patient improved rapidly until Saturday of last week when he complained that the fingers of the amputated hand were cramped and hurt him. Friends tried to convince him that such a thing was impossible but to no avail, and it was finally decided to exhumate the hand and investigate the matter.

On Monday Undertaker Schumleffel of Dresden, accompanied by a brother and several friends of the injured man went to the cemetery in that city and dug up the hand for examination. The hand lay just as it had been buried and was almost as straight as it possibly could be with the exception of a small crease near the middle finger. After smoothing this out the hand was again consigned to Mother Earth. Strange to say the removal and straightening of the finger has proved a decided relief to Pierson who says the pain has gone and that he feels very much relieved. Pierson will soon be able to be removed to his home in Trinway.

Mr. and Mrs. John Evans and Miss Clara were guests the first of the week, of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans of Eddy street.

Mrs. Dollie Holmes, who has been the guest of Mrs. Harry Toothaker, north of the city, has returned to her home in Hanover.

JOSEPH KEHOE IS FATALLY INJURED

B. &amp; O. SWITCHMAN CRUSHED EARLY TUESDAY, BOTH LEGS BEING MANGLED.

Injured Man Asked For Priest Instead of Doctor—No Operation Was Performed by Surgeons.

Brakeman Joseph Kehoe, who was injured early this morning, died this afternoon at the City Hospital.

Joseph Kehoe, a night switchman in the lower B. and O. yards, was fatally injured about 1 o'clock Tuesday morning between Allen and Mills streets. Kehoe was standing on the platform of a caboose, when a "cut" of flat cars struck the caboose on which he was riding. The unfortunate man was caught and both legs were crushed in a manner which was at once seen to be fatal.

He said while being removed to the city hospital in Bowers & Criss Bros. ambulance:

"It's all off with me. Send for a priest. I don't need a doctor."

The priest was summoned and administered extreme unction to the injured man.

Drs. Speer, Knauss and Barnes were summoned but the condition of the patient was such that no attempt at amputation was made.

Joseph Kehoe, who was so frightfully injured in the east B. & O. yards early Tuesday morning, died at 2:35 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the hospital.

The deceased was 32 years of age and leaves a wife and one child, who live at 57 Mill street, beside several brothers who live in Newark.

He had been working on the Illinois Central in Mississippi, as an engineer, and on account of the yellow fever there he left about two months ago, and took a position as switchman in the yards.

ADULTERATED

With Coal Tar Dye is Butter Examined at Philadelphia—It Will be Analyzed at Once.

Washington, Oct. 17.—That samples of butter submitted as portions of a large quantity supplied to the League Island navy yard at Philadelphia prove to be colored with coal tar dye is the substance of a report which Chief Chemist Wiley of the department of agriculture will submit to Secretary Wilson. Specimens were taken for analysis from the League Island yard and from the United States receiving ship Lancaster and other navy craft by representatives of the Pennsylvania dairy and food commission, who are said to have obtained similar samples from the men who sold the product. Secretary Wilson will refer the report to President Roosevelt, who will in all probability call the attention of the department of justice to the matter.

There are only three national holidays in Japan. January 1 is one of them, and the birthday of the reigning emperor, Nov. 3, is another. But February 11 is the greatest of the three dates, for it is the anniversary of the coronation of the first Emperor Jimmu.

Will Dr. McCleery Answer?

Dr. McCleery, the Republican candidate for Mayor, still fails to define his position on the local issue that has been sprung by his party organ. But the people want to know how he stands upon the issue. The question is does the doctor favor the enforcement of the laws and city ordinances against intoxication? Will Dr. McCleery answer?

E. L. Weisgerber.

It is fortunate for the taxpayers of Newark and the city's best interests that a man of the conceded qualifications and superior merit of E. L. Weisgerber is the nominee of the Democracy for the important position of member of the Board of Public Service. It is fortunate that the name of such a man is on the ballot for the coming election, because of the fact that a large percentage of taxpayers, regardless of politics, will vote for a candidate in whom they can have such absolute confidence, one whom they feel they can trust to manage the city's affairs and intelligently and faithfully discharge the responsibilities that devolve on members of the Board of Public Service. Every citizen of Newark familiar with Mr. Weisgerber, knows that he is such a man and has abundant reasons for his faith in him.

Mr. Weisgerber, who has been a resident of the city for twenty-five years, is well-known for his prominence in the service of the B. & O. railroad company. He was in the active service of the B. & O. for a period of 14 years, and for 27 years of that time he held responsible official positions, being a general foreman and master of mechanics. He served in these capacities in Wheeling, W. Va., Connellsville, Pa., Grafton, W. Va., Newark, Ohio, and Mt. Clare, Baltimore, all of which time he had men under his charge numbering from 175 to 2,365. And it is to his credit that while his services to the railroad company were always satisfactory, he was especially popular with the men under his charge. For his faithful services he is now on the retired list of the B. & O. company. From the years 1884 to 1890 Mr. Weisgerber was a member of the Newark City council and during that period served as chairman of the waterworks, sewer and fire department committees. It was during that period that the present waterworks system was built, the city's sewers and street paving were commenced and the fire department was reorganized with the establishment of the present fire alarm system, which has proved the test of time.

A man with such an experience and opportunity to acquire practical knowledge on lines that especially fit him for the discharge of the duties that belong to the position of member of the Board of Public Service, cannot fail to receive hundreds of votes from men of all parties in our city. In view of the fact that the city is now building a new waterworks system, Mr. Weisgerber's experience and qualification especially equip him for the extraordinary service that will devolve upon him. He has a practical knowledge of the machinery, appliances and material required in all lines of public improvements that few men anywhere possess. This is a vital reason why he should be elected.

Mr. Weisgerber's popularity as a man, his strict integrity and his nice sense of right and justice are traits of character he possesses that are familiar to all who know him. He cannot fail to be elected by the large majority he deserves, and he will make the city of Newark an invaluable official.

Governor Folk in Philadelphia.

Governor Folk, of Missouri, famous for the reforms he has practiced, and carried out in his own State, lifted his voice for reform, where it is so greatly needed, in the City of Philadelphia Monday night to an audience that packed to suffocation the greatest hall in the city. Conspicuously on the stage were such well-known men as Charles Emory Smith, Wayne MacVeagh and Mayor Weaver. Governor Folk, the Democratic reformer of Missouri, went to Philadelphia to urge Democrats to aid the reform movement in that city by voting for independent Republicans who were fighting the criminally corrupt Republican machine. Governor Folk's address consisted of vital propositions of how an outraged people may achieve reform, and made many telling thrusts showing how city and state are intertwined in the evils of bad government, or tainted alike by "aggressive rottenness." What the Governor said in behalf of needed reforms in Philadelphia, can, with equal propriety and force be applied to the reform campaign against Coxism in Ohio.

The last Republican legislature, which was directed from Cincinnati over long-distance telephone by George B. Cox, enacted the Chapman law which abolished spring elections and made it necessary to hold municipal elections in the fall along with state and county elections. The senator from Lisbon arose when the bill was under consideration and said that his constituents did not want it to become a law, but he was going to vote for it not because of the lobby present in the chamber but because the party "leaders" had demanded it. The telephone bills for long-distance service from Cox's office in Cincinnati to the state house in Columbus, which the state paid, show that about the time that bill was ready to come up for consideration there was a message from the boss. The bill was passed and became a law, and the Republicans executed its enactment on the ground that it made fewer elections, but its purpose was to help a lot of Republicans into office (who could not be elected otherwise) in the municipalities of the state to make secure the machine which had got the Cox code saddled upon the cities and villages.

Let Mr. Dick Explain.

Mr. Charles Dick has been asking for all sorts of explanations. Here is something Mr. Dick might explain.

Why did he go to Pension Agent Jones with the statement that he was authorized by President Roosevelt to call on him and secure a copy of the Ohio pension roll and to hand it over to him (Mr. Dick), who is chairman of George B. Cox's executive committee?

Why did he so grossly deceive the old veteran into doing that which the pension regulations forbid, and which places Col. Jones in danger of instant dismissal?

On what authority did this man Dick use the name of President Roosevelt to get hold of the pension list?

What use does he intend to put it now that he has got it?

Has Boss Cox devised a plan whereby the scanty pensions of the poor old veterans are to be grafted on?

Is this another case like the Dick-Phillips bogus circulars in 1893, by means of which cripples, widows, orphans and deserving soldiers, were induced to send from 50 cents to $2.00 to Phillips in Washington on the pretense they were to get an increase?

This was in 1893. Dick's part of the work was to get a copy of the Ohio pension roll. He got it. Phillips sent out the circulars.

How was the money divided? William A. Taylor, then a candidate on the Democratic state ticket, exposed this thing in 1893. Phillips was disgraced because of it and escaped imprisonment on a technicality.

Is this a Dick-Phillips redresses? Let Dick explain.

Let him explain why they have been sent to Washington to be mailed from there, to more fully deceive the pensioners.

The East Palestine Revue-Echo, a Republican newspaper which could hardly tolerate anything Democratic heretofore, prints the following in its last issue, language that would have caused the paper to be read out of the party if used a few years ago:

"In less than four weeks the close of another political campaign will have been reached. Locally speaking we are just coming to the heat of the conflict but over the state many of the campaign guns have been fired and already some have been relegated to the rear. We mentioned two weeks ago in this column that Senator Dick in attempting to foist the tariff issue as the battle cry of the campaign would deceive no one as badly as himself. Present indications point very conclusively to the fact that the people of Ohio are too deeply stirred to listen patiently to the mere ranting on the part of demagogues as to what shall constitute the issue. The Cox, Dick, Herrick combine has discovered already that the tariff is sure to be a 'bogey.' The effort to question the personal motives of John M. Pattison is also meeting with a less fervid reception than its promoters would desire. Taken all in all this campaign is a moral one and on that issue alone will it be decided."

25 RATS

Caught in a Trap in One Night in East Newark—Prize Story Related by D. O. Redman.

A rat story of unusual magnitude is being related by Groceriesman D. A. Redman of East Main street. Mr. Redman has a reputation among his friends of being absolutely truthful, and the story cannot be doubted. A trap of the common wire variety was placed in the store Monday night and in the morning it looked as though the entire rat population of East Newark had taken up its abode in the trap. While preparing for the execution, one of the rodents escaped but when the final count was made there were 25 yet in the trap. A bucket of water was used in ending the lives of the prisoners and the count was made afterwards. Thomas Buey verifies the statement, as does the man who inherited the large family.

It is safe to remark that the grocers and housewives of East Newark will now have a short period at least, of rest from these pests.

The Butler Oil and Gas company has located its third well—this one on the Louis Mengert farm, about 300 feet from the good gas producer brought in some months ago. Work was commenced on the derrick Monday morning. The Butler company has received a proposition from the Mobican and the Ohio Fuel companies, agreeing to stand two-thirds the cost of a test well in the Butler company's territory at a point where it would show up territory that is under lease by the other concerns, each of which has blocks of land leased. It is quite likely that the proposition will be accepted and a well started within a week or two.

HOSPITAL BONDS

Will Not be Sold as Advertised

Say Newark City Councilmen.

TITLE OF SITE NOT YET CLEAR

SUIT TO QUIET CLAIM OF HEIRS IS NOW PENDING

In Licking County Courts—Law Committee Recommends Passage of Splitting Ordinance.

The construction of Newark's city hospital will be delayed. A resolution was adopted by the city council at the regular meeting held Monday night which instructed the City Auditor to suspend the publication of the legal notice of the sale of bonds, for the construction of the hospital.

This action was taken because of the suit which is now pending in the local courts as to the title of the land on the old cemetery site. In a lengthy report submitted by the law committee the matter was treated fully.

Mr. Smythe addressed the council and stated that the land was in two parcels. One was deeded to the city for cemetery purposes and the abstract of the other parcel can not be completed. The heirs of the Harriet B. Crane estate are claiming that the city has no right to use this property for purposes other than a cemetery as it was specified in the description to that effect.

The law provides that a city can dispose of in any manner it sees fit any lots or lands of an abandoned cemetery. However the Crane property which was acquired by the city by deed, is now concerned in the suit which has been filed to quiet the claim of the heirs, and it would be unwise to proceed with the selling of the bonds and the construction of the hospital until the matter was first decided in the courts. The resolution asked that the bond sale be postponed until March, 1906.

In the report of the law committee the members recommended the passage of the ordinance which prohibits splitting upon the sidewalk.

Councilman R. R. Jones' ordinance which provides for the submission of the question of issuing $200,000 additional water works bonds, to the vote of the people was placed upon its third reading and was passed. Councilmen Beadle, Miller, Baker, Moser and Carlie voted for the ordinance, Messrs. Jones and Conrad being absent from the meeting.

A Wonderful Cure.

Bedridden Six Months, I Am Now Doing My Own Housework.

About 15 years ago I was all run down with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart (often getting black in the face and thought to be dying), losing flesh, till from 130 pounds my weight was reduced to 93 pounds, and for six months I was confined to my bed. A relative of mine who had been troubled with female weakness and nervous prostration and had been cured by Thompson's Barosma, recommended it to me. I began taking Thompson's Barosma at once and was not only cured of nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart, but began to gain in flesh until in a short time I weighed 140 pounds, and from that time on until now have been perfectly well, doing my own housework.—Mrs. E. L. Mason, Titusville, Pa. Thompson's Barosma, Kidney and Liver Cure 50c. and $1.00

UNION DISSOLVED

Government Bill Severing Relations That Have Existed Since 1814, Passed by Both Houses.

Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 17.—The union between Norway and Sweden existing since 1814 is dissolved, both houses of the riksdag having passed the government bill repealing the act of union and recognizing Norway "as a state separate from the union with Sweden." The lower house adopted the bill without debate, but two or three members of the senate expressed the opinion that the dissolution was an irreparable misfortune and that the time would come when Norway would perceive the benefits of the union. Both houses subsequently adopted the new flag. It will be a yellow cross on a blue ground, the same as existed prior to 1814, the union mark in the upper left corner being eliminated.

O. S. U. GRADUATE IN SERIOUS TROUBLE

Robert Green Arrested at Goshen, Ind., for Misuse of the United States Mails.

Robert L. Green, formerly a resident of Columbus, a graduate of the Ohio State university, and now professor of chemistry at the Notre Dame university has been arrested at Goshen, Ind., on a charge of sending defamatory matter through the mails. He was released on $200 bond furnished by his brother, Jerome Green, also an O. S. U. graduate.

Green's alleged offense was ending a postal card addressed to "H. H. Peck, Official Man-Butcher, Windsor, Vt." Peck is sheriff at Windsor, and it was to be his duty to execute Mrs. Mary Rogers, condemned of murder. The postal to him said:

"Notre Dame, Ind., June 20, '05. 'Before butchering Mrs. Mary Rogers, carefully consider the command of the Highest Power in the universe, 'thou shalt not kill.' Do not disgrace yourself and family by committing murder, even though it is legal, made so by men in defiance of the above command. Robert L. Green."

Action against Professor Green was brought by government authorities at the request of Governor Bachelor of Vermont.

SEVERAL REPUBLICAN COUNTY OFFICIALS

Select Democrats as Their Deputies, and Local Leaders of the G. O. P. Don't Like it a Bit.

The local correspondent of the Columbus Press Post sends the following special:

Dr. J. N. Wright was installed as county auditor Monday. He was elected from Johnstown, but formerly lived in Delaware county. He has retained as deputy during his first term A. R. Prior, the outgoing auditor. He has appointed R. W. Martin as assistant. The selection of deputies is not in accord with the rank and file of the auditor's party. A very substantial Republican said: "It seems useless to elect a Republican in Licking county as we can't find one who either can run the office himself or find a deputy in our party who can. Even Probate Judge Irvine and Recorder Brill were compelled to hire Democratic deputies to run their respective offices. I guess I'll vote the Democratic ticket."

AMUSEMENTS

Charlotte Burnett, the dainty comedienne, will be seen tonight at the Auditorium in "The Honeymoon," a bright comedy.

WHEN WOMEN LOVE.

The story of "When Women Love," which comes to the Auditorium for a Saturday matinee and night engagement, revolves around a factory girl, who is charged with a crime and is hounded almost to death, but in the end outwits her enemies and triumphs over their dastardly schemes. This play is true to life, and is making a terrific hit throughout the country.

GENIUS AND THE MODEL.

The story of the rise of Miss Edna Goodrich, the principal feminine feature of "The Genius and the Model," which will be seen shortly in this city reads altogether like a romance of the story books. Three years ago Miss Goodrich was comparatively unknown and her stage experience was limited to the merest appearances. To Mr. William G. Stewart she went one day and applied for a position with a company he was then forming. After talking with her he discovered that her experience was small and he advised her to accept a subordinate position with almost any company and study hard to fit herself for the important work she hoped to do. Miss Goodrich took this advice and remained unknown during the time she was studying fencing, elocution and dramatic expression. Then she obtained a small part to try her ability and early this season presented herself again as Mr. Stewart's star. The latter put her through some difficult trials and then engaged her at once as the leading lady for his new production "The Genius and the Model" for which Harry Woodruff has been engaged for the leading titular role. Miss Goodrich has thus virtually risen from a lowly position to close to stardom unaided and by her own efforts in a period of three years. In addition to her talent, Miss Goodrich is looked upon now as one of the most beautiful women of the American stage.

When "The Genius and the Model" is seen here, local playgoers will have an opportunity of seeing something new in the line of entertainment as presented by a traveling company. This is the introduction of a curtain raiser incidental to the main production. This is a one act play, "Noblesse Oblige," which has been written by William C. DeMille about an incident of historical nature occurring during the reign of Charles the Bad of Navarre during the 13th century. The important part in it will be played by Mr. Stewart.

GREAT SOUTHERN THEATRE.

The chipper comedian, Thomas W. Rose, who entertained so many in the leading role of "Checkers," Henry M. Blossom's blithe comedy, is to appear at the Great Southern theatre, Columbus, Monday and Tuesday, October 23 and 24, in a clever new play by that author. The new piece is entitled "A Fair Exchange." It was produced in

Men of Oak

Timbers of oak keep the old homestead standing through the years. It pays to use the right stuff.

"Men of oak" are men in rugged health, men whose bodies are made of the soundest materials.

Childhood is the time to lay the foundation for a sturdy constitution that will last for years. Scott's Emulsion is the right stuff.

Scott's Emulsion stimulates the growing powers of children, helps them build a firm foundation for a sturdy constitution.

DENISON

Is Commended for Stand Taken in the Squabble With Ohio State

EXCITES MUCH COMMENT

PRESIDENTS OF TWO VARSITIES WILL PROBE INTO MATTER

State's Action Severing Athletic Relations May Be Reconsidered—Comments of Ohio Press.

The newspapers all over the state were not through commenting on the Ohio State-Denison game at Columbus Saturday when Sunday's papers were off the press. The universal opinion is that State made a spectacle of herself and considerably lowered her athletic standing among the lovers of fair play in sports throughout the country.

There yet fails to be revealed the fact that a single game in the country lasted for 70 minutes. This is the injustice of the move proven. Further comment on the action of both colleges follows:

Cleveland Leader: The action of Denison in refusing to be dictated to by Ohio State, resulting in the forfeiting of Saturday's game, is generally commended around the state. Ohio State has always been arrogant in her demands and has tried to run things to suit the Columbus team only. The action of the Denison management will probably have the effect of toning down many of Ohio State's demands. Denison is generally picked to win the State championship outside of the "Big Six" teams.

Columbus Dispatch: It is rumored that the entire "Big Six" football collection of teams will refuse to play Denison. The statement is made by one who ought to know. Indeed, action to this end has been started. The action had better be stopped right where it is. There are several "Big Six" teams right now who have players on them who are no right to play and who are known to be as ineligible as the Denison players are claimed to be. The whole matter of eligibility in Ohio has become a farce. The rules as they stand now are breeding liars and making students and managers offend almost any pretext to cover up technical inelegibility. Unless Denison has proven against her conclusively the claims made, it's an injustice to this institution to persecute her in this way. If the evidence has been clearly and beyond question established then it will be time to talk. One thing is certain, if one school is to be persecuted at the expense of a so-called "Big Six," it's getting time to remove the beam before looking for one in another camp.

Ohio State Journal: President Thompson of Ohio State university left last night for Champaign, Ill. Prior to his departure a short conference was held with President Hunt of Denison university with reference to the recent strained relations between the two universities. Nothing of the nature of the conference has been given out except that the main purport of it was regarding the State's action in the matter of severing athletic relations with Denison and the justification of it.

President Thompson has given assurance that the matter will be taken up officially as soon as he returns from the west, and has expressed a desire that all might yet be arranged to the mutual satisfaction of all parties concerned.

Be that as it may, let bygones be bygones. The whole affair was unfortunate from every point of view and the sooner that discussion about the matter gives place to a prospectus of the remaining drawing cards of the year the better for Columbus football.

Angry sentiments against those Ohio State students who were dishonest enough to drain the treasury Saturday were expressed around the campus and the better class of Ohio State men are not slow in saying that an example should be made of some one. It is hinted that a general mass meeting will be held Thursday or Friday to take up the subject.

A Denison man here yesterday said: "The whole trouble seems to have arisen from the inability of some people to believe that any athletic could honestly go to a school like Denison."

The Cincinnati Enquirer of today declares nearly a column and a half to the board of control of Denison university to place the matter in its true light before the people of the country and states that the action taken by the Ohio State men was decidedly premature.

BIG SUM

For Each Player Who Took Part in the World's Championship Series Each Gets Over $800.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—As a reward for winning the American league baseball championship pennant, the 18 players of the Philadelphia club were yesterday presented by President Shibe of that club with $8,131.49, to be divided equally among them. This is the amount of the Philadelphia club's portion of the receipts for the first four games of the world's championship series with the New York National club. The Philadelphia players also received $6,848.46 as their portion of the receipts of the world's series allotted to them by the national commission. This gives each of them $832.22.

OHIO WORKS TEAM LOSES BIG MONEY

Nearly Three Thousand Dollars Dropped by Steel Company to Furnish Winning Youngstown Team.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 17.—The Ohio Works team lost between $2,500 and $3,000 this season according to Thos. McDonald, general superintendent of the Ohio Works, of the Carnegie Steel company.

However, Mr. McDonald said: "You know we are not in baseball for the money." Mr. McDonald said the only thing he regretted about the season was the fact that Billy Phyle was obliged to leave the team before the end of the season. He said that Phyle might be here next season, which means that an attempt will be made to have the black-list ban lifted by the national commission. Mr. McDonald stated that Youngstown would have a team next year supported by the Ohio Works steel plant again and that it would be a good one.

Baseball Magnate Retires. Chicago, Oct. 17.—President James A. Hart of the Chicago National league baseball team retired from baseball. He has one of the longest records of any man ever connected with the game. His successor is Charles W. Murphy, who has been associated with the club management for some time.

Athletics' Reward. Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—As a reward for winning the American league's baseball championship pennant the 18 players of the Philadelphia club were presented by President Shibe of that club with $8,131.49, to be divided equally among the men. ## GREAT BAND OF 985 INSTRUMENTS

THAT PLAYED IN UNISON "ON-WARD CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS" AT COLUMBUS

Made an Impression That Will Not Soon Be Forgotten—Newark Band Formed a Part.

The grand volume of music produced by 40 bands, combining 985 instruments, in one vast aggregation and all playing in perfect harmony will never be forgotten by the residents of Columbus and the Knight Templars from this and other cities, who were fortunate enough to form a part of the parade of 5,000 knights, who marched and counter-marched,
while that grand old hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," thrilled the multitudes which lined the sidewalks along High and Broad streets last Wednesday.

The Buckeye band from this city formed a part of this most stupendous aggregation of musicians ever brought together. In the history of Ohio, of the country and possibly of the world itself, the record made by those 40 bands has never been equalled. No two of the organizations had played in unison before Wednesday morning and yet musical critics declare, that in all the mighty volume of sound, as piece after piece was rendered, there was hardly a discord or the dropping of a note.

Those who witnessed the musical feat are, naturally curious to know how it was accomplished. Colonel Charles S. Ammel of the Fourth regiment O. N. G. of which company G of Newark forms a part, was responsible for the perfect rendition. Several years ago he tried to accomplish the same feat with only 12 bands in Dayton, but the effort failed through the difference in pitch of the music held by the different organizations.

No time to make sure there would be no hitch, copies of the same music were sent to each of the 40 organizations expected to take a part. This music was learned and after a few notes, all of the bands hung almost faultlessly together.

The local Knight Templars who were fortunate enough to be in attendance, all declare in their praise and one and all lavish it was worth years of life to be able to see and hear that grand march Wednesday.

The present convocation of the organization has surpassed any on record, as being the best attended and the most successful in every way. Over sixty Newark Knights were present.

It has been recalled that Colonel Ammel, who was chief of staff to the grand captain general for the Knights Templars' parade, was marshal of the parade held during the Ohio convocation at Zanesville 22 years ago.

Colonel Ammel has been a Knight Templar 24 years. He has been a Scottish Rite Mason 31 years.

usual at 2 o'clock in the parlors of the Baptist church and the program provided was of unusual interest and merit. The subject for study was Stockholm, Sweden, the country in which the club is now traveling. Mrs.
Goodell gave a most delightful talk upon Stockholm, the Swedish capital, which was followed by a paper by Mrs. Humphrey containing information as to the lines of Jennie Lind, the famous singer, and Ole Bull, the great violinist. Miss Pearl Ferguson then sang Greig's "Water Lily" and "Ich Liebe Dich," both of which were beautifully and artistically rendered.

PRESIDENT HUNT TALKS TO BOYS

ADDRESS MADE IN CHAPEL IS CHEERED BY THE DENISON
STUDENTS.

Dr. Hunt Compliments Collegians Upon Their Behavior at the O. S. U.
Athletic Field.

Granville, Oct. 17.—Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of Denison university, having returned from Omaha, Neb., where he was called last week to deliver an address, led the chapel services as usual on Monday and afterwards made a few remarks to the students concerning the game with Ohio State University, which was forfeited by Denison because she would not allow herself to be dictated to by O. S. U.

The talk of Dr. Hunt was eagerly listened to by the students for they were all aware of the fact that he had been on the athletic grounds of O. S. U.
Saturday, and had been a personal witness to the affair. When Dr. Hunt said, looking proudly out over the student body before him, "I am glad that I am the president of Denison University instead of the president of Ohio State University," he was enthusiastically cheered. Dr. Hunt commended the action of the Denison foot ball team and of the athletic board of control, and also stated his appreciation of the manner in which all Denison representatives at the game conducted themselves. It was not at all courtesy. It was very difficult for fifty Denison rosters to keep their seats and maintain a calmness of demeanor when all around them were such evidences of injustice and discourtesy. It was very difficult for some to restrain the thoughts uppermost in their minds at the time, and but for the fact that the Denison boys were above such actions, there would, in all probability, have been a rough rush before the day was over.
Happily, there was no fighting, and Denison and all those interested in her feel that she has won a great victory.

Marker vs. Holler.

John A. Marker has commenced suit in the Common Pleas Court against Samuel A. Holler. The plaintiff says that on June 20, 1905, he entered into a partnership with the defendant in the saloon and lunch business, on Union street, in the West End, this city. The plaintiff says that at the time of entering into the partnership with Holler
they entered into a contract with the Consumers' Brewery Company of this city for the purchase of a lease on the premises in which the business has been conducted, the brewing company agreeing to sell lease for $300; that the plaintiff and the defendant executed a note for that sum of money, payable to the Consumers' Brewing Company, on December 20, 1905, and took possession of the premises, where they carried on their business. Plaintiff alleges that the defendant has applied to his own use from the receipts and profits of the business the sum of $200. Plaintiff also says that the defendant carries the key to the place of business and to the cash register, and that he excludes him therefrom; that he has good reason to believe, and does believe, that the defendant, on sales, made in the course of the business, received a much larger sum than $300, and applied the same to his own use, thereby increasing the indebtedness of the firm, and that he will convert the funds of the business to his own use without any way for the plaintiff to know the amount thereof, unless restrained by the court; that the defendant is insolvent and threatens to wreck the business.

Plaintiff says that on the 14th of October, 1905, they ceased to do business as co-partners, without any formal dissolution or settlement. He asks that the partnership be dissolved and that an account be taken of all the co-partnership dealings; that a receiver
be appointed and that the defendant be required to pay his indebtedness to the co-partnership and that he be paid
his capital contribution to the business and also his share of the profits; that the defendant be required to deliver to the receiver the key and money of the firm which is in his hands. Smythe
& Smythe, attorneys for the plaintiff.

Tablets in Relieving Indigestion.

After selling all kinds of remedies for dyspepsia and indigestion we can truthfully say that we never knew anything to give such universal satisfaction as Pepsikola Tablets. They not only aid digestion but they act as a grand nerve tonic as well. Many Newark people who have not enjoyed a good meal for years now say that after using one or two 25 cent boxes of these little tablets they feel as if they could eat a horse and digest it too.

The Wiles-Erman Drug Co. has been recommending this grand dyspepsia remedy for nearly two years now, and from actual experience knows there is no other remedy so sure to relieve sour stomach, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, palpitation, sleeplessness, wind belching, and other distressing symptoms of indigestion. And Pepsikola Tablets must cure you or there is nothing to pay. They will renew your energy, steady your nerves, regulate the action of your heart, improve your appetite, put new life in your stomach, and will do more to tone up and improve your general health than anything you ever heard of.

John A. Poor, formerly of Hillsboro,
O., and a member of the First Ohio Volunteers during the civil war, died at Washington of acute indigestion and heart failure.

The inhabitants of Southern Chile are said to fortell the weather by means of a strange barometer. It consists of the cast-off shell of a crab.
The dead shell is white in fair, dry weather; but, indicating the approach of a moist atmosphere by the appearance of small red spots; as the moisture in the air increases it becomes entirely red and remains so throughout the rainy season.

Marker vs. Holler.

John A. Marker has commenced suit
in the Common Pleas Court against Samuel A. Holler. The plaintiff says
that on June 20, 1905, he entered into a partnership with the defendant in the saloon and lunch business, on Union street, in the West End, this city. The plaintiff says that at the time of entering into the partnership with Holler
they entered into a contract with the Consumers' Brewery Company of this city for the purchase of a lease on the premises in which the business has been conducted, the brewing company
agreeing to sell lease for $300; that
the plaintiff and the defendant executed a note for that sum of money, payable to the Consumers' Brewing Company, on December 20, 1905, and took possession of the premises, where they carried on their business. Plaintiff alleges that the defendant has applied to his own use from the receipts and profits of the business the sum of $200. Plaintiff also says that the defendant carries the key to the place of business and to the cash register, and that he excludes him therefrom; that he has good reason to believe, and
does believe, that the defendant, on sales, made in the course of the business, received a much larger sum
than $300, and applied the same to his own use, thereby increasing the indebtedness of the firm, and that he will convert the funds of the business to his own use without any way for the plaintiff to know the amount thereof,
unless restrained by the court; that
the defendant is insolvent and threatens to wreck the business.

Plaintiff says that on the 14th of October, 1905, they ceased to do business as co-partners, without any formal dissolution or settlement. He asks that the partnership be dissolved and
that an account be taken of all the co-
partnership dealings; that a receiver
be appointed and that the defendant
be required to pay his indebtedness to
the co-partnership and that he be paid
his capital contribution to the business
and also his share of the profits; that
the defendant be required to deliver to
the receiver the key and money of the firm which is in his hands. Smythe
& Smythe, attorneys for the plaintiff.

In the Probate Court Tuesday morning medical certificates were record-

ROCHESTER WOMAN INDIGNANT

Mrs. Harris Is Said to be Securing Evidence in New York and Elsewhere to Strike a Blow In the Matrimonial Affair Which Centers in Newark--Says Her Reputation Will Bear Close Investigation--Not Here in Interest of Pittsburg Agency.

A sensational turn is expected within a short time in the Rochester (N. Y.) matrimonial mixup which is focused in Newark.

It is known that the Rochester woman who has caused the arrest of George Howard Harris, the secretary of the local Metal Polishers' union, and his wife at 59 Pine street, is planning for a coup, but just what form the blow will take remains to be brought in evidence.

As published on Monday, Justice J. R. Atcherley put Mrs. Harris, the Rochester woman, under $200 bond to keep the peace. She had struck Harris and had tossed her Newark rival down stairs at Justice Atcherley's court and the Newark woman, formerly Bertha Smith of Rochester, claims that she was afraid of another assault and even feared that her life might be taken.

Lawyer Collier, speaking for Mrs. Harris of Rochester, says that he has just received a telegram from Canada, saying that evidence of Harris' marriage to the prosecuting witness can be obtained at St. Catherine's, Ontario; that the wedding took place there on May 15, 1900, when Miss O'Connell was 16 years of age. It was owing to the youth of the girl that the parties went to Canada for the ceremony. He says that they lived for nearly four years at No. 16 Walton street, Rochester, and that while there both became acquainted with Bertha Smith with whom it is alleged, Harris left town and came to Newark on January 22, 1904.

Harris has been living here with his wife at 59 Pine street. It was there that the Rochester woman first saw them last week and it was there that the first assault is said to have taken place.

When the case came to trial last Saturday Attorney Phil B. Smythe for the Newark parties, stated that the Rochester woman had no too good a character and that he had evidence that she had been brought here to discredit Harris in view of certain action he was about to take in connection with the strike at the Wehrle foundry. Mr. Collier says there is no truth in the allegation and he refers to the chief of police at Rochester and to Attorney Bentley of that city to prove the good character and good intentions of his client. He says that the money coming to Mrs. Harris to prosecute this case is from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell of Rochester and not from the Perkins Detective Agency as alleged.

The court has fixed October 24 as the time for hearing the cases against the Newark parties who are charged with unlawfully living together.

Mrs. Harris tells of her husband's departure in January, 1904. She says he took her in his arms and kissed her no less than a dozen times and then told her good bye, saying he was going to work. That is the last time she saw him till she came to Newark a few days ago, having ascertained that he was living here with a woman who says she is his lawful wife.

Mrs. Harris from Rochester deeply feels this effort that has been made to impugn her motives and on account of this attack will doubtless be all the more energetic in her efforts to obtain vindication.
